You will develop academically, studying a wide range of topics in your chosen subject area. However, character and personal development are at the core of our learning model and this comes through UA92’s Target Talent Curriculum.

Here, you will develop your cognitive, emotional and social intelligence, your understanding of physical and mental well-being, and focus on developing your employability. This will be through studying a range of Target Talent themes, through engaging in work placements and insight visits, and via regular support from your own personal development coach. This approach is designed to put you in the best possible place for your university-level studies and prepare you for a strong career trajectory on graduation.
